1. A community action group (CAG) is a group of people who are concerned about a particular problem in their community and who are working together to solve it. CAGs are often formed by people who are living in the same area and who are experiencing the same problem. They may be formed by people who are working in the same industry or who are members of the same religious or ethnic group. CAGs can be very effective in solving problems in their communities. They can help to improve the quality of life for people in the community and can help to make the community a better place to live in.
